Cover illustration: Jurassic rocks exposed on the coast [NZ 927 102] east of Whitby, near Whitby lighthouse. Whitby Mudstone Formation (Toarcian, Lower Jurassic; Lias Group) in the lower part of the cliff is overlain unconformably by sandstone of the Dogger Formation (Aalenian, Middle Jurassic), which is overlain in turn by channel-fill sandstone of the Saltwick Formation (Aalenian; Ravenscar Group), with a thin coal below one of the sandstones. Papers by R. Maddra and M. Romano & M. Whyte in this part of the Proceedings deal with aspects of the palaeontology of the Whitby Mudstone Formation and Saltwick Formation, respectively, of this part of the Yorkshire coast.
